

Project Assessment Form

PURPOSE

The City of Livingston developed the Project Assessment Form to improve the evaluation process it uses to approve or deny the provision of grant development services, from City staff and/or consultants, to non-profit organizations (501c3 tax status) implementing community development projects. Grant development services include, but are not limited to: identifying potential sources of funding, writing applications, and managing funds.

PROCESS

Project Assessment Forms are accepted year-round and reviewed by the City Grants Committee at its quarterly meetings in January, April, July, and October. Committee members review forms and evaluate the organization's and/or project's readiness to proceed in the grant development field. Upon review of the form, the City Grants Committee will mail a letter to the organization approving or denying the provision of grant development services. The letter will contain instructions for contacting City staff and/or consultants if the request is approved or will contain suggestions for improving the organization's and/or project's readiness to proceed if the request is denied. If denied support at first, the City Grants Committee encourages all organizations to implement the suggestions in the denial letter and submit a new Project Assessment Form—par for the course when doing work in the grant development field.
